The School of Psychology invites you to a Special Seminar with

Andrew B. Newberg, M.D.
Professor of Emergency Medicine and Radiology
Director of Research, Myrna Brind Center of Integrative Medicine
Thomas Jefferson University and Hospital

On:

”Spirituality, Psychology, and the Brain: Exploring the Link”

Sunday, June 29th 2014, at 10:00

room PE430, Psychology-Economics Building

This presentation considers the relationship between mental health and spirituality or religiousness. Several topics are covered, including: the association between spiritual experiences and mental health, between spiritual experiences and psychological disorders, the possible neurophysiological mechanisms associated with religious and spiritual phenomena, how spirituality can help improve quality of life, and how various spiritual interventions from prayer to meditation can be utilized in clinical practice. Other topics related to various philosophical and theological implications will be considered as well.

You are invited!

Please confirm your participation by email - Psyevent@idc.ac.il