David H. Rosmarin, Ph.D. is an Instructor in the Department of Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School, and an Assistant Psychologist at McLean Hospital. Dr. Rosmarin was recruited to Harvard to do research on the relationship of spirituality and religion to mental health and treatment. He has published over 20 peer-reviewed articles and presented his findings over 40 times at national and international conferences. His research has been featured by ABC, NPR, US News and World Report, Scientific American, the Boston Globe, and the India Times. Recently, Dr. Rosmarin opened up the Center for Anxiety in NYC [www.centerforanxiety.org] offering spiritually-based treatments for anxiety symptoms with a focus in the Jewish community.