Change has always been a central element in management, yet there is growing evidence that recently changes are both more frequent and more fundamental. Managers and businesses operate in a turbulent, unstable and uncertain environment that may call for flexible and innovative managing along with consequences for the strategic planning of business, the structure of organizations, style of management and the emotional and cognitive state of managers and workers. Arison School of Business is considered nowadays as the leader in one of the central areas of Business Administration – “Managerial, Agility and Innovation” and has an international center focusing on this topic. Accordingly, during the summer Arison will hold several events under this umbrella. One of them is described here.

STRATEGIC AGILITY WORKSHOP

June 25th, 2014.

* Registration is open until June 22nd

The 2nd annual Strategic Agility workshop will bring together a select group of leading scholars and executives to discuss the multi-facet consequences of strategic management in a business environment, where changes become both more frequent and more fundamental. The workshop will deal with matters such as the strategic planning of businesses, the structure of organizations, effective management of growth and innovation processes and decision making under uncertainty. The aim is to create a meaningful interaction between academics and executives on the subject matters of strategic agility and innovation.

Select link for the conference program. The conference is designed for recipients of this invitation only.

The conference is free but requires registration, please register here.

For additional info please visit the Summer Events 2014 website