SELF GOING ANNUAL: OPTIONS

1. Enrollment and language level

A. French level

We are now proposing three options of the SELF undergraduate programme according to the language level of French.

a) Students are absolute beginners or have lower than A2 level of French upon arrival at Lyon 3, and wish to study on a semester basis (Fall or Spring semester):

They have to be enrolled in the SELF semester programme.

b) 2. Students with a French level of A2 upon arrival at Lyon 3 and willing to study a full year:

They are enrolled in the SELF semester programme for one semester and then, having attained a B1 level in French, in the DEUF semester programme for the other semester. During the latter they study courses in French in the different faculties/institutes.

According to Jean Moulin Lyon 3 University this is the best way for students to integrate into the French university environment and improve their French language level.

!! Please provide an A2 French Language Level certificate along with the nomination.

c) Students are absolute beginners or have lower than A2 level of French upon arrival at Lyon 3, and wish to study a full year:

• If they arrive in the Fall semester, they have to be enrolled in the SELF annual programme. Students do SELF classes in both the Fall and Spring semesters.
• If they arrive in the Spring semester, they have to be enrolled as semester SELF students in the Spring semester and in the Fall semester.

B. English level

Please note that an official language English test still applies to SELF student and is to be provided upon nomination (see “entry requirements”), i.e. before 30 April for the fall semester 2016/2017.

2. Changes to the French language course and Introduction to French Culture course

• Introduction to French Culture and Civilization: 10 hours/2 credits
• French language:
  o Semester SELF students: 60 hours/5 credits
  o Annual SELF students within one academic year: 60 hours/5 credits in the Fall semester and 20 hours/5 credits in the Spring semester
