IDC Herzliya is located in the city of Herzliya, six miles north of Tel Aviv along the Mediterranean coast. It is located in the center of the country and has both train and bus service available to all points throughout Israel. For more information on the city of Herzliya >>

IDC is the first private school of higher education in Israel, was founded in 1994 by Professor Uriel Reichman who serves as its President. Close to 6500 students study at the IDC, including 1450 international students, from 84 countries worldwide.

The campus is designed as an academic village with modern lecture halls and classrooms, innovative state-of-the-art teaching facilities, a state-of-the-art library, computer and communications networks equipped with some of the world’s most advanced technology.

The campus is also the home to a sculpture garden consisting of works by Israeli artists. On campus one also can find antiquities that the Israel Antiquities Authority has generously loaned to the center in perpetuity. They include a sarcophagus from the Classical Roman period, a statue of Apollo unearthed near Ashkelon, Roman pillars and more.

A wireless Internet network provides internet access from many spots on campus.

The Lauder School of Government, Diplomacy and Strategy at IDC Herzliya, in a relatively short time period (10 years), has emerged as a leading school of public and international affairs in Israel. To read more >>
